Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 03 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: since the applicant used the parenthesis for numeral references; to be consistent, the applicant is advised to have parenthesis for all cited elements. For example, a straight beam (20), a vertical web (22). Appropriate correction is required.

In regard claim 1, the cited limitation "the top" does not have proper antecedent basis. Correction is required.

Since the claim 1 is drawn to apparatus, the cited method steps (cutting, forming, and fixing) will not given any patentable weight.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In regard claim 1, is "the beam" on line 14 same as "a straight beam" on line 8? Clarification is required.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA

Art Unit: 3635

1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claim 1 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-3 of U.S. Patent No. 6,751,922. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the scope of the patented claims appears to be the same as the application claim except for a splice plate, which specifically having two integral portions connected by a step with a slot in one of the portions. Although, the patented claims do not specifically cited the splice plate having two integral portions connected by a step with a slot in one of the portions. It would have been obvious functional equivalent to have the splice plate connected to a cut out and providing a support to a curved main beam.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Boegle (US 4,783,946).

Boegle teaches supporting rail for lower ceilings and attachments comprising an invert T cross-section beam 25. The beam 25 having a bulb B at the top (see attachment of figure 4), a vertical web 25.1, and horizontal flanges 19, cutouts 20, 20.1, 20.2 spaced along the beam (fig. 5) extending into the bulb B (fig. 4) and the web 25.1 and leaving an intact segment 30 of the bulb above each cutout, a splice plate 35/36, each having two integral portions connected by a step (fig. 7) can be inserted after spreading of the bending cuts 20 into slot shaped supporting rail or beam. Boegle does not teach specifically the splice plate having a slot in one of the portion. Examiner takes Official Notice the fact that the splice plate taught by Boegle would have been obvious functional equivalent to the applicant's splice plate because it would capable performed a similar function such as providing a support to a cutout; thus it would limited the bending to desirable curve (e.g. concave or convex).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Beynon, Lin, Nute, Frecska, Platt, and Fletterick teach a ceiling support.
